اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأیضا أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد حدثت مثل ابن الهلاك وحرب هرمجدون وظهور

الشاهدين وحزقيال 38 وغيره ولا نعرف متى ولكن أشعر انها اقتربت.

ولكن ايضا علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير وفي الجيل الأخير

بدأت تحدث بوضوح ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. فلا نعرف هل المسيح سيأتي في سنة ام سبع سنين ام

ليس فقط قبل مجيء المسيح بل ايضا قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في

مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من

الان ان نستعد بقوة بإيمان عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا

لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة
لان وقتها تجميع زيت سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك
زيت الا ما جمعته سابقا. فأكرر لا نحدد المواعيد ولكن أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان
لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا
يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته.

دعنا نتخيل هل يوجد أحد من الذين رحلوا الي السماء ندم انه استعد لمجيء المسيح ولكن
المسيح لم يأتي ولكنه رحل مستعد؟

نحن اعضاء في الكنيسة عروس المسيح فهل أحد يغضب من الذي يقول للعروس استعدي لأنه
قد يأتي الان حتى لو اتى العريس متأخر؟

Asteroid hurtles towards earth

Scientists were today warning of a possible asteroid collision with the Earth.

An asteroid around two-thirds of a mile wide (1.2km) could hit the earth on March 21, 2014 and has been classified as "an event meriting careful monitoring" by astronomers.

But they say the probability of the asteroid hitting Earth is just 1 in 909,000 and the risk of impact is likely to decrease as they collect more information.

The newly-discovered asteroid, known as 2003 QQ47, has a mass of around 2,600 million tons (2,600 billion kg).

Its orbit calculations are currently based on just 51 observations during a seven-day period.

Dr Alan Fitzsimmons of Queen's University, Belfast, one of the expert team advising the UK NEO (Near Earth Objects) Information Centre, based in Leicester, said: "The NEO will be observable from Earth for the next two months, and astronomers will continue to track it over this period."

The giant rock was first observed on August 24 by Lincoln Near Earth Asteroid Research Program (LINEAR), based in Socorro, New Mexico.

The observations were reported to the Minor Planet Centre in Massachusetts, a centre for all new discoveries of asteroids and comets. The asteroid has been given a classification - known as a "Torino hazard rating" of one - defining it as "an event meriting careful monitoring."

Scientists said it was likely to drop down the scale for hazard as more observations were made.

Kevin Yates, project manager for the UK NEO Information Centre, said: "As additional observations are made over the coming months, and the uncertainties decrease, asteroid 2003 QQ47 is likely to drop down the Torino scale."

"The NEO Information Centre will continue to monitor the latest results of observations and publish regular updates on our website."

Asteroids such as 2003 QQ47 are chunks of rock left over from the formation of our solar system 4.5 billion years ago.

Most are kept at a safe distance from Earth in the asteroid belt between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

الإشكالية ليس في هذا فهو غالبا لن يصطدم ولكن الإشكالية في كثرة الشهب التي تقترب من

الأرض هذه الأيام.

Council probes Clermont lagoon fish kill

By William Rollo

Updated Tue 11 Mar 2014, 12:50pm AEDT

Investigations are underway into the cause of a large fish kill at a central Queensland waterway.

More than 1,500 fish have washed up dead at Hood's Lagoon in Clermont since yesterday morning.

Isaac council acting chief executive Scott Riley says the issue is not related to water quality problems at Dysart.

He says council workers have observed fish gasping for air.

"I think the issue we are dealing with in Clermont is more of a routine maintenance type of issue that's linked to the normal maintenance of the town's supply system, whereas in Dysart, it's been a water quality issue in terms of the defined supply via the pipeline," he said.

He says it could be linked to stormwater contamination.

"We have observed fish that have been gasping for air which indicates there may be low levels of oxygen ... in the water," he said.

"It appears that there may have been an event where low oxygen levels were caused when we installed essentially some backwashing of stormwater lines."

Hundreds of dead fish found in creek

By GREG JORDAN
Bluefield Daily Telegraph

ROCKY GAP, Va. — Inspectors with the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality were on the scene Tuesday after anglers discovered hundreds of dead fish in Laurel Creek near Interstate 77.

"We have an area extending approximately a mile to a mile and a half of fish kill," J. Alex Sneed of the department's pollution response program said along the banks of the creek.

The zone with dead fish extends from an Interstate 77 bridge near the East River Mountain Tunnel to where Laurel Creek meets Wolf Creek, Sneed said. The incident was reported at approximately 10:30 a.m. Tuesday after local anglers discovered dead fish in the stream. The Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries had stocked the stream with trout on Monday.

"We have a significant amount of trout that have been impacted," Sneed said, estimating the number of dead fish was in the hundreds.

Flock of birds found dead in road 'like a scene from The X-Files'

The dead starlings in Beaumont Road, Ladybridge

THE mystery appearance of a flock of dead birds in the middle of a busy road has left Ladybridge residents baffled.

Between 20 and 30 dead starlings appeared in Beaumont Road, near the Britannia Hotel, on Sunday afternoon.

Eyewitnesses reported hearing a loud bang before finding the birds in an "X-Files-like" experience, as if they had "fallen from the sky".

The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds has said it is unlikely they flew into a poisonous air trail as their injuries would be less uniform.

Macau culls 7,500 chicken over bird flu scare

Thursday, Mar 13, 2014
AFP

HONG KONG - Macau culled 7,500 chicken after discovering the H7-type avian influenza in live poultry for the first time in the city, authorities said on Thursday, adding the birds had been imported from mainland China.

The decision to slaughter the chickens comes after Hong Kong's cull of around 20,000 chicken in January, after the deadly H7N9 bird flu virus was found in poultry also imported from China.

Macau authorities discovered a positive H7 sample in a batch of poultry imported from the mainland Chinese city of Zhuhai on Wednesday.

"To ensure public health, authorities have decided to take decisive action and ordered the emergency measures of culling, sealing off and disinfection," a government statement released Thursday said.

They did not give details on which strain of H7 flu was found.

The cull of the 7,500 chicken started at midnight and lasted six hours, a government spokeswoman told AFP.

Images on the government website showed health officials wearing masks and white protective suits placing chicken in large plastic yellow bags at the Nam Yue Wholesales Market.

The market - Macau's only wholesale market for poultry imports - will be closed for 21 days starting Thursday for disinfection, the government said.

South Korea culls over 6 percent of poultry to curb bird flu

REUTERS 17 hours ago

SEOUL (Reuters) - South Korea has culled over 6 percent of poultry in the country to curb a bird flu outbreak that has hit farms and migratory birds nationwide, government officials said on Friday.

That brings the total number of farm birds slaughtered to 10.16 million, close to a record 10.2 million during an outbreak in 2008, according to data from the agriculture ministry.

No human infection has been reported, but a dog tested positive for bird flu antibodies, suggesting it had been exposed to the disease without being infected, the ministry said in a statement.

Asia's fourth-largest economy has had four bird flu outbreaks in the past 10 years, without any cases of human infection reported.

Sales of chicken in one of Seoul's largest markets dropped by more than half on average last month in the wake of the latest outbreak, according to a ministry official. No nationwide data is available.

South Korea's first case of H5N8 bird flu - different from the strain that has caused human deaths elsewhere in Asia - was found on January 17 at a duck farm in North Jeolla province, around 300 km (186 miles) southwest of Seoul.

Some 28 poultry farms across the nation have been hit by the disease, the ministry said.

BENGKULU, KOMPAS.com – A total of 1,150 birds in the village of Rawa Indah, District Ilir Talo, Seluma, Bengkulu, was found dead suddenly, last a few days.

This incident makes people worry that there is a bird flu outbreak. Acting Great Swamp Village Chief, Tohir Saputro, explained, the death of poultry that originated from cattle belonging Suwarno, a citizen. The same thing then happened to the other animals in the region.

"This condition makes people afraid of the bird flu outbreak, so I immediately coordinate with the health department," said Tohir, Thursday (03/13/2014).

One member of the team Hall Vertiner Lampung Province, DVM Sulisnawati, visit the location. He said it was still awaiting the results of laboratory tests to ascertain whether the deaths of thousands of birds from exposure to bird flu virus or not.

"We can not be sure of now. Yet when viewed from its characteristics, is suspected of having bird flu virus," said Sulisnawati.

In addition to monitoring in the village of Rawa Indah, officials from the health department also brought some samples of dead birds, among other organs, and the birds in a weak condition.

THE mystery of floating fish has been solved.

Isaac Regional Council launched an investigation after numerous fish went belly up at Hoods Lagoon near Clermont this week.

"The reason for this unfortunate incident has been the release of water into Hoods Lagoon after cleaning the Capricorn reservoir, which lowered oxygen levels in the lagoon," Isaac Regional Council acting chief executive officer Scott Riley said.

Reports of a "large number" of dead fish being washed up at Hoods Lagoon sparked the investigation on Monday.

Many dead fish in southland

Much of the southwestern peninsula was littered with dead fish yesterday, causing concern among residents and fishermen.

The dead fish began washing ashore at Coffee Beach, Carat Shed Beach and Point Sable Beach in La Brea three days ago.

Jason Jacob, vice president of the La Brea Fisherfolk Association, said, "Today hundreds of fishes washed ashore. Animals are eating them up quickly. We took some of the dead fishes and put them on ice so we can have tests done to determine what is causing this."

Jacob said fishermen and residents were concerned and are demanding an investigation into why the fish were dying.

"We want to know what is happening. The residents are scared. Why are these fish dying, can the residents be affected by this too?" he said.

Fisherman Kenny Rampersad said before the oil spills in the Gulf of Paria there were hardly any dead fish on the shoreline. "We believe it is something in the water. This is the first time we have had something like this here. This is a major fish kill and we believe it has something to do with the oil spill," he said.

Crude oil washed ashore at the beaches last December. The beaches were cleaned and residents were given the all clear to return to their normal lives last month.

Fishermen, however, have not returned to the sea and are being paid $1,200 a day until the Environmental Management Authority gives the green light to resume fishing in the waters.

The fishermen have also pleaded with Petrotrin to replace the "No Fishing" and "No Bathing" signs at the beaches.

Alvin La Borde, president of the La Brea Fishing Association, said fishermen were concerned about the dispersant Corexit 9500 used to remove oil from the water surface. La Borde said fishermen and residents were concerned that the chemical was dangerous to people and marine life.

Yesterday several families were observed bathing in the waters off Carat Shed Beach, La Brea.

"The damage is tremendous. The reports and panchanamas so far show 2,139 cattle have died because of lighting or hailstorms. The hails were very big in size and killed the animals almost instantly. There was hardly any chance for the farmers to take care of their animals," the officer from revenue division of Nashik said.

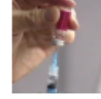

The existing guidelines for the compensation of cattle state that a farmer can be compensated for one large milch animal or four small milch animals and one large draught animal or two small draught animals.

Most of a pod of white-beaked dolphins have already succumbed after becoming trapped by ice off the southwest coast. The pod of about 30 to 40 dolphins became encircled by ice near Cape Ray on the weekend and were driven close to the shoreline. The animals' plight has caught the attention of local residents, but officials say there's little that can be done because of the dangerous weather and ice conditions.

As of this morning just three animals were left alive, and they were in bad shape. Wayne Ledwell of the Whale Release and Strandings Group says human safety is paramount when considering whether or not to save the animals. He says conditions in the area are so bad, people would be risking their lives to try to intervene.

Ledwell says white-beaked dolphins are one of a couple of species that stay in Newfoundland waters year-round, and ice strandings are not uncommon. He says in many cases the animals usually die, but he can remember saving some animals in an area where it was safe to do so, and transporting them to open water via snowmobile.

A 6.3 magnitude earthquake has struck off the south coast of Japan, 13 kilometers north of the city Kunisaki-shi, located on the southern Kyushu Island, according to the US Geological Survey.

Tags

Anniversary, Earthquake, Japan, Natural disasters, Tsunami

The epicenter fell at a depth of 82.9km, striking off the coast at the intersection between Kyushu, the main island of Honshu, and Shikoku, at 2:06 a.m. on Friday (1706 GMT on Thursday).

A 6.3 earthquake is capable of causing 'serious damage', according to the USGS, while earthquakes measuring between 6.0 and 6.9 on the Richter scale can be felt up to hundreds of kilometers from the epicenter.

The quake struck 36 km south-south-west of the city of Hikari, western Honshu, which has a population of over 50,000 people.

No reports of damage or casualties have immediately followed. The USGS has released a pager 'green' alert, meaning that "there is a low likelihood of casualties and damage."

Planet shaken by spasm of moderate earthquakes over last 24 hours

Posted on March 15, 2014

March 2014 – GEOLOGY – In the past 24 hours, the planet has been reeling from a series of moderate earthquakes that have erupted all across the Ring of Fire. The Ring of Fire is an area where a large number of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions occur in the basin of the Pacific Ocean. It is the most geologically-active region on the planet. In a nearly 40,000 km (25,000 mi) horseshoe shape, the region is associated with a nearly continuous series of oceanic trenches, volcanic arcs, and volcanic belts and/or plate movements. It has 452 volcanoes and is home to over 75% of the world's active and dormant volcanoes. About 90% of the world's earthquakes and 81% of the world's largest earthquakes occur along the Ring of Fire. In the past 24 hours, double moderate earthquakes 5.3 and 5.6 magnitude earthquakes have struck Indonesia. A 5.4 magnitude earthquake struck NE of San Isidro Philippines. If a 9.0 earthquake were to strike along California's sparsely populated North Coast, it would have a catastrophic ripple effect.

A giant tsunami created by the quake would wash away coastal towns, destroy U.S. 101 and cause $70 billion in damage over a large swath of the Pacific coast. More than 100 bridges would be lost, power lines toppled and coastal towns isolated. Residents would have as few as 15 minutes notice to flee to higher ground, and as many as 10,000 would perish.

Scientists last year published this grim scenario for a massive rupture along the Cascadia fault system, which runs 700 miles off shore from Northern California to Vancouver Island.

WASHINGTON – U.S. federal forecasters predict a warming of the central Pacific Ocean this year that will change weather worldwide.

The warming, called an El Nino, can mean an even hotter year coming up and billions of dollars in losses for food crops. Australia and South Africa should be dry while parts of South America become dry and parts become wet in an El Nino. Peru suffers the most, getting floods and poorer fishing.

But it could bring good news for some parts of the planet, leading to fewer Atlantic hurricanes and more rain next winter for drought-stricken California and southern U.S. states. It could also

A radioactive metal from the Fukushima nuclear plant disaster in Japan has been discovered in the Fraser Valley, causing researchers to raise the alarm about the long-term impact of radiation on B.C.'s west coast.

Examination of a soil sample from Kilby Provincial Park, near Agassiz, has for the first time in this province found Cesium 134, further evidence of Fukushima radioactivity being transported to Canada by air and water.

Simferopol, Ukraine (CNN) -- U.S. President Barack Obama and Ukrainian interim Prime Minister Arseniy Yatsenyuk had strong words for Russia on Wednesday as Washington again warned Moscow there will be consequences if it doesn't remove its troops from Crimea and Kiev said that it will "never surrender."

But Yatsenyuk also said after his meeting with Obama at the White House that Ukraine, a former Soviet Republic, wants to be good friends with Russia.

John Kerry: Russia has until Monday to reverse course in Ukraine

Secretary of State John Kerry pauses while testifying on Capitol Hill in Washington, Wednesday...

Secretary of State John Kerry warned of serious repercussions for Russia on Monday if last-ditch talks over the weekend to resolve the crisis in Ukraine failed to persuade Moscow to soften its stance.

Kerry will travel to London for a Friday meeting with Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov ahead of a Sunday referendum vote in the Crimea region to secede from Ukraine and join the Russian Federation.

Sign Up for the Politics Today newsletter!

U.S. and European officials argue that Moscow is orchestrating the referendum and waging an intimidation campaign with thousands of Russian troops controlling the region. If Russian-backed lawmakers in Crimea go through with the Sunday referendum, Kerry said the U.S. and its European allies will not recognize it as legitimate under international law.

The U.S. and Europe on Monday would then unite to impose sanctions on Russia, Kerry told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee Thursday during a hearing on the State Department's budget.

"There will be a response of some kind to the referendum itself," Kerry said. "If there is no sign [from Russia] of any capacity to respond to this issue ... there will be a very serious series of steps on Monday."

"Our hope is to have Russia join in respecting international law. ... There is no justification, no legality to this referendum that is taking place," he said. "The hope is that reason will prevail but there is no guarantee of that."

Angela Merkel, the German Chancellor, has promised that Russia will not "get away" with "annexing" Crimea as world powers agreed to impose targeted sanctions on senior figures close to the Kremlin.

Mrs Merkel told a meeting of her parliamentary party that Russia's intervention in Ukraine violated the principles of post-war order in Europe.

Oil and Natural Gas as Weapon of War

+ Comment Now + Follow Comments

With Russia's invasion of Crimea, the threat is greater than Vladimir Putin's ambitions, the real danger to the world is that oil and natural gas are once again being used as a weapon of war.

This isn't the first time. When Russia cut off natural gas supplies in 2009 to Ukraine and six other countries in the middle of winter, millions were left in the cold until they paid Russia's ransom in the form of higher prices. It was a stark example how vulnerable Europe had become to Russia's control over energy resources. I said at the time it should be a wake-up call to an America confronting its own foreign oil dependence issue and the national security and economic threats that come with it.

We rely on oil suppliers around the world for half of the oil we use. Our OPEC oil dependence is particularly troubling. We're caught in OPEC's web that has entangled us in wars and Middle East politics and costing thousands of American lives and trillions of tax dollars.

MINSK, March 13 (RIA Novosti) – Six Russian Su-27 fighter jets and three military transport planes with ground support personnel arrived Thursday at an airbase in Belarus to boost the airspace defenses of the two countries' Union State, the Russian Defense Ministry said.

The ministry said the aircraft from the Western military district have been deployed to the Babruysk airbase in line with a bilateral agreement on the joint protection of the Union State's airspace.

The planes will reinforce the four Russian Su-27 Flanker fighter jets already at the nearby Baranovichi airbase.

The Su-27 Flanker is a highly-maneuverable, all-weather fighter jet that could be used in a variety of combat missions, including reconnaissance and the interception of enemy aircraft.

Around 95 percent of voters in the Crimean referendum have answered 'yes' to the autonomous republic joining Russia and less than 5 percent of the vote participants want the region to remain part of Ukraine, according to preliminary results.

With around 50 percent of the votes already counted, preliminary result show that 95.5 percent of voters said 'yes' to the reunion of the republic with Russia as a constituent unit of the Russian Federation. In Sevastopol, the number of those who voted 'yes' stands at 93 percent, according to the head of the Sevastopol commission, Valery Medvedev.

The preliminary results of the popular vote were announced during a meeting in the center of Sevastopol, the city that hosts Russia's Black Sea fleet.

The overall voter turnout in the referendum on the status of Crimea is 81,37%, according to the head of the Crimean parliament's commission on the referendum, Mikhail

Obama Has 4 Days to Stop Putin in Crimea

Russia has agreed to a ceasefire in Crimea until March 21, which gives the Obama administration little time to prevent a war. Can anyone change Putin's calculation in time?

Now that Crimea has "voted," the Obama administration is ready to start unveiling sanctions against Russian and Crimean leaders who are linked to what the West is calling Russia's invasion and subversion in Crimea. But with a fragile ceasefire set to expire by Friday, the sanctions are unlikely to work in time to head off a conflict.

US hits 'provocative' China move on Philippine ships

AFP March 12, 2014 12:42 PM

Washington (AFP) - The United States on Wednesday accused China of raising tensions by blocking two Philippines vessels as it urged freedom of navigation in the tense South China Sea.

The United States, a treaty-bound ally of Manila, said it was "troubled" by Sunday's incident in which China prevented movement of two ships contracted by the Philippine navy to deliver supplies and troops to the disputed Second Thomas Shoal.

"This is a provocative move that raises tensions. Pending resolution of competing claims in the South China Sea, there should be no interference with the efforts of claimants to maintain the status quo," State Department spokeswoman Jen Psaki said.

The Philippines on Tuesday summoned China's charge d'affaires, accusing Beijing of a "clear and urgent threat" to Manila's interests. Beijing countered that the ships "infringed China's territorial sovereignty" and violated a 2002 declaration of conduct in the South China Sea.

The United States rejected China's stance, saying that countries had the right to "regular resupply and rotation of personnel" to locations before

Iran, Russia reach primary agreement on building 2 more nuclear power plants

Tehran, March 12, IRNA – Iran and Russia have reached a primary agreement for building two more nuclear power plants in Iran, spokesman of the Atomic Energy Organization of Iran (AEOI) Behrouz Kamalvandi said on Wednesday.

Commenting on AEOI's Tuesday talks with officials of the Russia's State Atomic Energy Corporation (Rosatom) in Tehran, he said the talks resulted in a draft protocol on promotion of Iran-Russia nuclear cooperation based on the previous agreement in 1992.

The primary agreement is to be endorsed by AEOI president Ali Akbar Salehi and Head of the Rosatom Sergei Kiriyyenko, said the spokesman.

Rosatom is a state corporation (non-profit organization) in Russia, established in 2007, which acts as the regulatory body of the Russian nuclear complex.

Kiriyyenko arrived in Tehran on March 11 heading a delegation to discuss building of the two new nuclear power plants with the Iranian officials.

According to Kamalvandi, the technical and commercial conditions for building of the two power plants will soon be discussed by the Iranian and Russian officials.

U. S. Partially Suspends Aid to Uganda for Criminalizing Homosexual Behavior

March 15, 2014 | Filed under: Law & Government, Life & Society, Top Stories, World | By: Heather Clark

WASHINGTON – U.S. officials have partially suspended aid to the East African country of Uganda for signing into law a bill that criminalized homosexual behavior in the country.

“As a result of this review process, a portion of the U.S. Center for Disease Control’s (CDC) cooperative agreement with the [Ugandan] Ministry of Health has been put on hold pending this review,” an unnamed official told Reuters this week.

The outlet states that a representative of Uganda’s health ministry confirmed that the department “would no longer be able to access money from a fund used to buy antiretroviral drugs and HIV testing kits.” It is not known exactly how much aid was cut, but last year alone, the department received $3.9 million in U.S. aid.

Ugandan President Yoweri Museveni had signed legislation into law late last month that would require up to life imprisonment for those who engage in “aggravated homosexuality,” meaning those who intentionally spread the HIV virus, commit homosexual pedophilia, or repeatedly engage in sex acts with those of the same gender.

“We have been disappointed for a long time by the conduct of the West, the way you conduct yourselves there,” Museveni, a Christian, told CNN in a recent interview. “Our disappointment is now exacerbated because we are sorry to see that you live the way you live, but we keep quiet about it. Now you say ‘you must also live like us’—that’s where we say no.”

He said that he was not concerned about the possibility that the U.S. would withhold aid in light of Uganda’s position on homosexual behavior.

“Worried? Not at all,” he said. “If the West doesn’t want to work with us because of homosexuals, then we have enough space here to live by ourselves and do business with other people.”

The Bravest Knight Who Ever Lived has all the staples of an ordinary fairytale -- a brave hero, a wily villain, a roaring dragon and a dreamy setting -- but this story ends with a gay twist.

The fairytale, written by Daniel Errico and illustrated by Mo Qovaizi, tells of Cedric, a precocious little boy who lives on a pumpkin farm and grows up to become a knight.

Walt Disney has likely a profound impact on your childhood and development -- and the influence of this media giant continues to play a major role in our culture.

As a result, Disney has always been a popular target for individuals and artists who want to push the boundaries of identity and what is considered "normal" in society, such as this viral video where Disney Princesses become fed up with being damsels in distress.

Another popular subversion of Disney culture that has recently been circulating on Tumblr involves artists take images of classic Disney characters and visually "transforming" them into the opposite gender of what they're perceived and originally presented as along the male/female binary.

In order to better understand this work, called "Genderbent Disney," HuffPost Gay Voices sat down with TT Bret, one of the artists involved, to discuss why this work is important and the goal of the transformations.

United Methodist 'Bishop' Refuses to Hold Ministers Accountable for Performing Same-Sex 'Weddings'

WHITE PLAINS, NY – The head of the New York Conference of the United Methodist Church has ended the church trial of a minister who officiated his son's same-sex "wedding," and is now vowing to end all future trials in the region.

"Church trials produce no winners," Martin D. McLee told reporters on Monday. "[They] result in harmful polarization and continue the harm brought upon our gay and lesbian brothers and sisters."

As previously reported, Thomas Ogletree, 80, was set to stand trial today at the First United Methodist Church of Stanford following complaints filed by fellow clergy who accused him of violating church doctrine. Ogletree, a retired United Methodist minister and former Yale Divinity School Dean, had officiated his son's same-sex "wedding" in 2012 against the Book of Discipline.

The Book outlines that "the practice of homosexuality is incompatible with Christian teaching" and that "self-avowed practicing homosexuals" may not be ordained as ministers in the denomination. It also forbids ministers from hosting or participating in "ceremonies that celebrate homosexual unions."

WASHINGTON -- Legally married same-sex couples just gained a little more recognition in the eyes of the federal government.

The Department of Health and Human Services announced Friday that, starting with the 2015 plan year, insurance companies that provide coverage to opposite-sex spouses must also offer that coverage to same-sex spouses.

"In other words, insurance companies will not be permitted to discriminate against married same-sex couples when offering coverage," Matthew Heinz, the director of LGBT outreach at HHS, wrote in a blog post.

The clarification to the agency's rules stems from last year's landmark Supreme Court ruling that the federal Defense of Marriage Act, which defined marriage as between a man and a woman, is unconstitutional. The update applies to all Qualified Health Plans, which are plans that meet the minimum standards of the Affordable Care Act and are certified by the state or federal exchange where it is purchased.

China's Li Keqiang warns investors to prepare for wave of bankruptcies

World's second largest economy is facing 'serious challenges' and many companies with high debts are being forced to the wall

China is braced for a wave of industrial bankruptcies as its slowing economy forces companies with sky-high debts to the wall, the country's premier has said.

Premier Li Keqiang told lenders to China's private sector factories they should expect debt defaults as the world's second largest economy encounters "serious challenges" in the year ahead.

Speaking after the annual session of the national people's congress, Li Keqiang said: "We are going to confront serious challenges this year and some challenges may be even more complex." He told lenders to China's private sector factories they should expect debt defaults.

Li said China must "ensure steady growth, ensure employment, avert inflation and defuse risks" while also fighting pollution, among other tasks.

ALERT: Russian companies withdraw billions from west, say Moscow bankers

Russian companies are pulling billions out of western banks, fearful that any US sanctions over the Crimean crisis could lead to an asset freeze, according to bankers in Moscow. Sberbank and VTB, Russia's giant partly state-owned banks, as well as industrial companies, such as energy group Lukoil, are among those repatriating cash from western lenders with operations in the US. VTB has also cancelled a planned US investor summit next month, according to bankers. The flight comes as last-ditch diplomatic talks between Russia's foreign minister and the US secretary of state to resolve the tensions in Ukraine ended without an agreement. MORE

Russia vows to switch to other currencies over US sanctions threat - Glazyev

Russia can dodge any proposed US sanctions by switching to other currencies and creating its own payment system, Putin's economic advisor Sergei Glazyev said Tuesday. A senior Kremlin official has denounced Glazyev's remark on US-Russia economic ties, calling them "a personal opinion" inconsistent with the Kremlin stance.

This comes amid US threats to pile sanctions on Russia over its stand on the Ukrainian coup. US Senate is currently debating possible measures against Moscow.

"This year [Evolva] will release a product that has been created by genetically modified yeast that converts sugars to vanillin. It will be the first major synthetic-biology food additive to hit supermarkets." - Nature.com

A Switzerland based company called Evolva has developed a synthetic vanilla that is set to be released in 2014. The vanilla is created using a process of genetic engineering called synthetic biology.

Synthetic biology, according to a 2005 European Commission paper is "...the engineering of biology... the synthesis of complex, biologically based (or inspired) systems which display functions that do not exist in nature." Unlike the older science of splicing genes from different species together, synthetic biology is seeking to create whole new organisms that do not exist on earth.

Evolva's synthetic vanilla is created by inserting computer coded DNA into yeast. This new method of genetic engineering is called "natural" by Evolva.

رسالة بولس الرسول الي أهل رومية 13

13: 11 هذا وأنكم عارفون الوقت انها الان ساعة لنستيقظ من النوم فان خلاصنا الان أقرب مما

كان حين امنا

13: 12 قد تناهى الليل وتقارب النهار فلنخلع اعمال الظلمة ونلبس اسلحة النور

13: 13 لنسلك بلياقة كما في النهار لا بالبطر والسكر لا بالمضاجع والعهر لا بالخصام والحسد

13: 14 بل البسوا الرب يسوع المسيح ولا تصنعوا تدبيراً للجسد لأجل الشهوات

احترس ان لم تتمسك بالمسيح من الان قد لا تستطيع في المستقبل القريب بسبب الظلام.

فلهذا أقول المسيح اقترب ميعاد مجيؤه لا احدد مواعيد بل ارفض من يحدد مواعيد ولكن اطلب

الأول نصلي ونستعد ونعد زيت لمصابيحنا لاستقبال العريس بالصلاة والصوم وخدمة أبناء الله وتنقية القلب والاستعداد بلبس العرس.

أفسس 6: 15 وَحَاذِينَ أَرْجُلَكُمْ بِاسْتِعْدَادِ إِنْجِيلِ السَّلَامِ .

الثاني لا نخاف

بطرس الأولى 3: 14

وَلَكِنْ وَإِنْ تَأَلَّمْتُمْ مِنْ أَجْلِ الْبِرِّ، فَطُوبَاكُمْ. وَأَمَّا خَوْفُهُمْ فَلَا تَخَافُوهُ وَلَا تَضْطَرُّوْا،

بل نفرح

رسالة بولس الرسول إلى أهل فيلبي 4 : 4

إفْرَحُوا فِي الرَّبِّ كُلَّ حِينٍ، وَأَقُولُ أَيْضًا: افْرَحُوا.

افرحوا لان عريسنا قد اقترب مجيؤه. وانتبهوا الشيطان يريد أن نفقد سلامنا ولا ننال أكاليل.
