والعلامات حتى 2 ديسمبر 2014

Holy_bible_1

اكرر اننا لا نحدد مواعيد بل فقط نشجع بعضنا بعضا بقرب مجيء المسيح

وأيضاً أوضح أنه يوجد نبوات لم نراها بعد مثل ابن الهلاك وهرمجدون

ولكن أيضاً علامات كثيرة من التي قال عنها الكتاب انها في الزمان الاخير بدأت تحدث بوضوح

ويجب أن ننتبه اليها. ونذكر بعضنا باننا نحتاج ان نستعد. والاستعداد ليس فقط قبل مجيء

المسيح بل أيضاً قبل الظلمة التي ستسبق مجيؤه ليكون عندنا زيت في مصابيحنا يكفي ان نعبر

هذه الظلمة وتكون مصابيحنا مضيئة وقت مجيؤه. بمعنى نحتاج من الان ان نستعد بقوة بأيمان

عامل وبتنقية القلب وان نثمر بالخدمة أي نجمع زيت في مصابيحنا لان الظلمة والضيقة اقتربت

جدا ومن لن يستعد لها بزيت كافي من الان لن يجد زيت في الضيقة لان وقتها تجميع زيت

سيكون صعب جدا بل أستطيع ان أقول من مثل العذارى انه لن يكون هناك زيت الا ما جمعه

سابقا. أفضل ان اقول لنفسي ولكم استعدوا الان لأنه اقترب فنكون مستعدين سواء جاء او نحن ان سلمنا وديعتنا عن أنى لا اقول انه اقترب لكيلا يقال عني كاذب وانشر اشاعات ولكنه يأتي بسرعة بغته. لا اعتقد اي أحد ندم لانه كان مستعد ومنتظر مجيء المسيح ولم ياتي المسيح في زمنه ولكنه انتقل وهو مستعد ولكن كثيرين جدا ندموا على عدم الاستعداد عندما انتقلوا بعض الاحداث التي قال عنها الرب يسوع

انجيل متى 24

مت 24: 6 وسوف تسمعون بحروب واخبار حروب انظروا لا ترتاعوا لأنه لا بد ان تكون هذه كلها ولكن ليس المنتهى بعد

مت 24: 7 لأنه تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة وتكون مجاعات واوبئة وزلازل في اماكن

مت 24: 8 ولكن هذه كلها مبتدأ الازعاج

مت 24: 9 حينئذ يسلمونكم الى ضيق ويقتلونكم وتكونون مبغضين من جميع الامم لأجل اسمي

مت 24: 10 وحينئذ يعثر كثيرون ويسلمون بعضهم بعضا ويبغضون بعضهم بعضا

مت 24: 11 ويقوم انبياء كذبة كثيرون ويضلون كثيرين

مت 24: 12 ولكثرة الاثم تبرد محبة الكثيرين

مت 24: 13 ولكن الذي يصبر الى المنتهى فهذا يخلص

مت 24: 14 ويكرز ببشارة الملكوت هذه في كل المسكونة شهادة لجميع الامم ثم ياتي المنتهى

انجيل لوقا 21

21: 10 ثم قال لهم تقوم امة على امة ومملكة على مملكة

21: 11 وتكون زلازل عظيمة في اماكن ومجاعات واوبئة وتكون مخاوف وعلامات عظيمة من

السماء

21: 25 وتكون علامات في الشمس والقمر والنجوم وعلى الارض كرب امم بحيرة البحر والامواج

تضج

21: 26 والناس يغطى عليهم من خوف وانتظار ما يأتي على المسكونة لان قوات السماوات

تتزعزع

21: 27 وحينئذ يبصرون ابن الانسان اتيا في سحابة بقوة و مجد كثير

سفر اعمال الرسل 2

2: 19 واعطي عجائب في السماء من فوق وآيات على الارض من أسفل دما ونارا وبخار دخان

2: 20 تتحول الشمس الى ظلمة والقمر الى دم قبل ان يجيء يوم الرب العظيم الشهير

2: 21 ويكون كل من يدعو باسم الرب يخلص

المسيح لا يتنبأ ولا يتوقع بل يعرف

لماذا قال المسيح بعض العلامات؟

إنجيل يوحنا 14: 29

وَقُلْتُ لَكُمْ الْآنَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَكُونَ، حَتَّى مَتَى كَانَ تُؤْمِنُونَ.

وايضا لنتنبه ونستعد

انجيل لوقا 21

28 وَمَتَى ابْتَدَأَتْ هَذِهِ تَكُونُ، فَانْتَصِبُوا وَارْفَعُوا رُؤُوسَكُمْ لِأَنَّ نَجَاتَكُمْ تَقْتَرِبُ.»

Monster Sunspot May Unleash Powerful Solar Flares (Video)

The largest sunspot to appear on Earth's nearest star in more than two decades is once again pointed at the planet, and it will likely kick-start solar storms, NASA scientists say.

The massive sunspot, previously known as Active Region 12192, was turned toward Earth in October and early November, but rotated out of view. While it was on the Earth-facing side of the sun, the sunspot did not produce any coronal mass ejections — hot bursts of material ejected into space at 4 million mph (6.4 million km/h) — which have the potential to damage satellites and power grids. Now the active region has rotated back around to face Earth again, and although the sunspot has shrunk in size, it will likely be disruptive,

Cosmic Case of Missing Stars Baffles Scientists

A massive population of stars is missing, and scientists are stumped as to where it could be.

New observations from the Hubble Space Telescope challenge a previous theory for the apparent disappearance of a massive number of stars. Because some star clusters around our Milky Way galaxy have fewer stars

Scientists Discover An Invisible Shield Surrounding Earth, Baffled At How It Formed

Ad

Scientists have discovered something truly remarkable in the Earth's atmosphere. An invisible shield is located approximately 7,200 miles above Earth that scientists are likening to "force fields on Star Trek."

According to Front Line Desk, the shield was discovered in the Van Allen radiation belts, two doughnut-shaped rings above Earth that are filled with high-energy electrons and protons. Held in place by Earth's magnetic field, the Van Allen radiation belts swell and shrink in response to incoming energy disturbances from the sun. The Van Allen radiation belts were first discovered back in 1958. However, scientists only discovered two belts, an inner and outer belt extending up to 25,000 miles above Earth's surface.

However, last year, Professor Daniel Baker from the University of Colorado Boulder and his team used the twin Van Allen Probes launched in 2012 to discover a third, transient 'storage ring.' According to their research, the third belt is located between the previously Ice is already starting to develop on Michigan's Great Lakes. This is the earliest ice on some of the Great Lakes in at least 40 years.

According to the Great Lakes Environmental Research Laboratory, on November 20, 2014, three of Michigan's Great Lakes had ice starting to form. Lake Superior and Lake Michigan were one-half percent ice covered, while Lake Huron had one percent ice. Lake Erie was not reporting any ice as of Nov. 20, 2014.

PA town breaks snowfall record, Breaks record of 1895

The only thing area motorists could be thankful for Wednesday was safely reaching their destinations. And for some, that didn't happen. A pre-Thanksgiving snowstorm made roads a treacherous mess, sending vehicles slipping, sliding and some even overturning. The snow set a record. As of 7:30 p.m. in Towanda, Wayne Vanderpool, National Weather Service Co-Op Observer, reported that he measured 11.2 inches of snow, "with it still snowing lightly." He said it was "the most snow ever measured in Towanda on any November day, since records began back in 1895." More

(NaturalNews) Western states have been suffering through one of the country's worst droughts on record, but conditions have been particularly dreadful in the state of California, with its massive population and heavy agricultural production.

In fact, drought conditions have gotten so bad that theft of water is now becoming more and more common. As reported by CBS San Francisco, some of the worst theft is occurring in Clayton, California, in Contra Costa County, "a city that remains true to its western roots."

Heralded by fiery lava fountains and plumes of poisonous gas, a new lava lake has appeared atop one of Africa's most active volcanoes for the first time in 75 years.

The lava lake at Nyamuragira volcano in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DR Congo) simmers deep within the summit's North Pit Crater. Though the churning lava seems to come and go, scientists think the volcano may eventually spawn a long-lived lava lake.

At the moment, "it's a very small, bubbling lava lake," said Benoit Smets, a volcanologist at the European Center for Geodynamics and Seismology in Luxembourg. "It disappears and reappears, but if the current activity continues, we will probably have a lava lake like we have at [neighboring volcano] Nyiragongo within a few years to decades."

Two men in China had the ultimate lucky escape after a sinkhole opened up in front of them.

The driver and passenger were travelling on a busy junction in Jinjiang City in China's eastern Fujian province when the hole appeared.

But fortunately for them, they managed to stop just in time before the car flipped over and fell in.

The hole was caused by the collapse of sand beneath the road's surface about half an hour before the sinkhole appeared, when a truck ran over the spot, causing the tarmac to collapse, The Independent reported.

Fish kill in Byron Bay

On the morning of Tuesday November 18 I was dismayed to see a large number of dead fish along the tide line of Main Beach. I am wondering if anyone knows what caused the fish kill.

Not so long ago I saw the tide deposit a slimy green mat all along Belongil Beach, and I have heard a few people saying they have seen no dolphins for a while. Could it be that the Belongil estuary health has been compromised, and some serious and independent assessments need to be done before any go-ahead of any proposal which could increase toxicity and damage marine and human life?

(Reuters) - India has found two outbreaks of a highly contagious bird flu virus in the southern state of Kerala, prompting the authorities to cull more than 200,000 birds, the World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE) said on Tuesday.

The virus itself killed about 15,000 infected ducks in Kottayam and another 500 in nearby Alappuzha, the first cases of the disease in the country since February this year, the Paris-based OIE reported on its website, citing data submitted by the Indian ministry of agriculture.

The report said the animals died of an H5 strain of the flu virus but did not specify the exact variant.

Germany, the Netherlands and Britain have been hit this month by the H5N8 bird flu strain which has devastated flocks in Asia, mainly South Korea, earlier this year but has never been detected in humans.

Another strain, the feared H5N1, can be fatal to humans. It caused the deaths of nearly 400 people and hundreds of millions of poultry after it spread from Asia into Europe and Africa in 2005-2006.

Crow seizures: 30 birds dead in Portland parks

The Associated Press November 26, 2014

PORTLAND, ORE. — Police say 30 dead crows have been found in downtown Portland parks after reports they were having seizures.

A police spokesman says there's no apparent reason for the deaths.

The Audubon Society has been called in to help with the investigation.

The birds were found Wednesday morning in three areas: Governor Tom McCall Waterfront Park along the Willamette River, the Chapman and Lowndale squares set among government buildings a few blocks west of the river, and at the nearby Lovejoy Fountain.

Firefighters reported finding no hazardous materials in the air, and officers who checked the area said they found nothing that would have been fatal to the birds.

(NaturalNews) Big news for the Right to Know movement! Awareness regarding the dangers of genetically modified organisms (GMOs) has mushroomed, forcing the world to finally put genetically spliced food under the microscope.

Organizers announced in London on November 11 that they will be performing the world's first ever comprehensive and independent study on the safety of GMOs and their associated pesticides. Referred to as "Factor GMO," the project has already begun the preparatory phase, but the full-blown experiment is expected to launch in 2015.

CDC: 1,400 in U.S. actively monitored for Ebola

The killer virus Ebola may not be front and center in the news, but it's still in the forefront of efforts by health officials nationwide. As of today, more than 1,400 people in 44 states in the U.S. are being actively monitored by state and local health departments after returning from West Africa. The good news is that no new cases have been reported in the U.S. since Oct. 23. According to the Centers for Disease Control, which provided the figure, "They are being monitored because they came from one of the four countries with ongoing Ebola outbreaks." Responding to a public outcry, the Department of Homeland Security began, on Oct. 22, requiring all U.S. bound passengers from the primary Ebola-infected West African nations to arrive at one of five U.S. airports with enhanced screening. ## Ebola outbreak: Sierra Leone workers dump bodies in Kenema

The bodies have now been removed

Burial workers in the Sierra Leonean city of Kenema have dumped bodies in public in protest at non-payment of allowances for handling Ebola victims.

The workers, who went on strike over the issue, left 15 bodies abandoned at the city's main hospital.

One of the bodies was reportedly left by the hospital manager's office and two others by the hospital entrance.

Over 40 people have already died in a plague outbreak on Madagascar and the UN World Health Organization (WHO) has warned of a "rapid" spread of the bacterial disease carried by rats in the capital Antananarivo. Tags
Africa Biology Health Medicine

The death toll of the bubonic plague outbreak in Madagascar has risen to 47, Secretary-General of the Health Ministry of the island state Philemon Tafangy said on Tuesday, while the number of suspected plague cases reached 138.

The first reported case on the island was a man from the village of Soamahatamana on August 31. He later died on September 3.

On November 4, the Health Ministry notified the WHO of a plague outbreak. Since then, plague cases have been reported in 16 Madagascar regions – two percent of which are the pneumonic form.

There have also been two cases, including one death, in the country's capital of Antananarivo, where the disease is rapidly spreading. "There is now a risk of a rapid spread of the disease, due to the city's high population density and the weakness of the healthcare system," according to a WHO press release.

New Russian Stealth Jet Fighter Called 'Super Weapon' Giving Russia Edge Over U.S. In Skies

Watch: L'effet Cheerios l'histoire de Fannie et Christian [\[ watch video \]](#)

A new Russian jet fighter, using stealth technology designed to conceal the plane from radar, is being called a "super weapon" by military experts who say that the fifth-generation Russian fighter jet actually surpasses United States fighters and could give Russia an advantage in the skies.

Known as the TA-50 PAK FA, the new Russian stealth fighter is developed by the Russian aeronautic giant Sukhoi and is set to go into action in 2016. Russia is developing the new super fighter together with India, which is kicking in 25 percent of the T-50 program's $20 billion projected cost.

Each T-50 PAK FA stealth jet fighter costs about $50 million to build. Russia is India's second-biggest supplier of weapons, behind only the United States.

Russian President Vladimir Putin has called the new fifth-generation stealth fighter "superior to our main competitor, the F-22, in terms of maneuverability, weaponry and range."

"Today a squadron of warships and support vessels of the Northern Fleet headed by a large anti-submarine ship, the Severomorsk, crossed the narrowest part of the English Channel and passed into the Bay of the Seine," said Russia's defense ministry.

The crews held a series of survival exercises in case of flooding or fire, as well as anti-submarine training.

After the training, in one of the world's most crowded waterways, where the squadron was constantly shadowed by the British Navy's HMS Tyne offshore patrol vessel, the task force went further and anchored in the international waters of the Seine Bay to wait out a storm.

A Tidal Wave of Gold Repatriations Could be Unleashed

A tidal wave of gold repatriations may have begun. As speculated in my last post, I raised a concern that should be shared with all western Central bankers...a widespread flood of countries demanding their gold back to their home soils. This notion sounds logical to any sane individual, but to a central banker who is gold negative, this is their worst nightmare. To understand why, you need to step back and see the big picture, which shows the stark reality of how rare gold truly is and how little of it remains in western vaults, despite what the mainstream media would have you believe. ## Swiss, French call to bring home gold reserves as Dutch move 122 tons out of US

The financial crisis in Europe is prompting some nations to repatriate their gold reserves to national vaults. The Netherlands has moved $5 billion worth of gold from New York, and some are calling for similar action from France, Switzerland, and Germany.

An unmatched pace of money printing by major central banks has boosted concerns in European countries over the safety of their gold reserves abroad.

The Dutch central bank – De Nederlandsche Bank – was one of the latest to make the move. The bank announced last Friday that it moved a fifth of its total 612.5-metric-ton gold reserve from New York to Amsterdam earlier in November.

It was done in an effort to redistribute the gold stock in “a more balanced way,” and to boost public confidence, the bank explained.

“With this adjustment the Dutch Central Bank joins other banks that are keeping a larger share of their gold supply in their own country,” the bank said in a statement. “In addition to a more balanced division of the gold reserves...this may also contribute to a positive confidence effect with the public.”

OIL GIANT WARNS: Crude Could Crash To $30

Guess What Happened The Last Time The Price Of Oil Crashed Like This?...

By Michael Snyder, on November 30th, 2014

g+1 Share Tweet Pinterest Email ShareThis

There has only been one other time in history when the price of oil has crashed by more than 40 dollars in less than 6 months. The last time this happened was during the second half of 2008, and the beginning of that oil price crash preceded the great financial collapse that happened later that year by several months. Well, now it is happening again, but this time the stakes are even higher. When the price of oil falls dramatically, that is a sign that economic activity is slowing down. It can also have a tremendously destabilizing affect on financial markets. As you will read about below, energy companies now account for approximately 20 percent of the junk bond market. And a junk bond implosion is usually a signal that a major stock market crash is on the way. So if you are looking for a "canary in the coal mine", keep your eye on the performance of energy junk bonds. If they begin to collapse, that is a sign that all hell is about to break loose on Wall Street.

It would be difficult to overstate the importance of the shale oil boom to the U.S. economy. Thanks to this boom, the United States has become the largest oil producer on the entire planet.

Yes, the U.S. now actually produces more oil than either Saudi Arabia or Russia. This "revolution" has resulted in the creation of millions of jobs since the last recession, and it has been one of the key factors that has kept the percentage of Americans that are employed fairly stable.

Unfortunately, the shale oil boom is coming to an abrupt end. As a recent Vox article discussed, OPEC has essentially declared a price war on U.S. shale oil producers...

China Manufacturing PMI Drops To 8-Month Lows, Teeters On Brink Of Contraction

From exuberant credit-fueled cycle highs in July, China's official Manufacturing PMI has done nothing but drop as the hangover-effect from the credit-impulse weighs once again on the now commodity-collateral crushed nation. At 50.3 (missing expectations of 50.5 for the 2nd month in a row), this is the lowest print since March. All 5 components dropped led by notable weakness in output and new orders (new export orders biggest MoM drop in 17 months) with medium- and small-enterprises heading deeper into contraction (at 48.4 and 47.8 respectively) as the Steel industry PMI craters to 43.3. Japan's PMI dropped marginally to 52 and then HSBC's China Manufacturing confirmed the government data and flash reading with a 50 print – the lowest since May as New Export Orders growth slowed for the 2nd month. (NaturalNews) In a sane world, developed countries consider financial debt to be a bad thing, especially when it comes to consumer debt, because overwhelming consumer debt is bad when governments are trying to grow their economies.

Growing economies solve a lot of problems for government officials and elected leaders -- growing economies provide governments with funding so the government can do the things that its citizens expect it to do: defend them, provide basic infrastructure and perform other services endemic to a modern society.

(CNSNews.com) - Nearly one in five U.S. households will celebrate Thanksgiving on food stamps this year, according to the latest data from the U.S. Department of Agriculture on participation in the Supplemental Nutrition and Assistance Program.

Back in fiscal 2000, there were 106,061,000 households in the United States and, according to a USDA report published in November 2012, there was a monthly average of 7,335,000 households—or 6.9 percent—getting food stamps that year.

I received a Facebook message the other day from one of my readers in Cordova, Alaska.

Kanji Christian had purchased a copy of my new book, God Less America, and he enjoyed the book so much he decided to donate a copy to the public library.

The folks at the library said it would take a while for them to approve the book. A few months later, Kanji dropped by, hoping to find his donated copy of God Less America on the bookshelf. But the book was nowhere to be found.

Kanji decided to investigate, and he soon learned that my book had been rejected by the library.

"She (the librarian) just said that if it didn't make it in it's because they check reviews and then decide whether or not it's something the community would be interested in," Kanji wrote to me.

Atheists Prompt Investigation Into History Teacher for 'Preaching' Christianity in Class

STATESBORO, Ga. – Two self-identified atheist activist organizations have prompted an investigation into a university history teacher in Georgia in the heart of the Bible Belt who they accuse of allegedly preaching Christianity and Creationism in his classroom.

The Madison, Wisconsin-based Freedom from Religion Foundation (FFRF) and the Washington, D.C.-based Richard Dawkins Foundation for Reason and Science recently sent a joint letter to the president of Georgia Southern University alleging that Prof. Emerson T. McMullen ("Tom") is unlawfully promoting religion to his students.

"McMullen appears to use at least some of his class to preach religion instead of teach history," the letter reads. "Our reports and information indicate that McMullen (1) is known for injecting religion into his classes, (2) gives extra credit to students willing to endure and describe additional proselytizing, and (3) uses his position at a public university to promote religious beliefs like creationism, while undermining legitimate sciences, like biology."

It contends that because McMullen allegedly speaks positively on Christianity in the classroom, and refutes evolution, that he is violating the U.S. Constitution.

"McMullen not only lowers the reputation and standards of this university, but has created serious constitutional problems," the groups wrote. "As a public university, GSU is subject to the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment, which separates state and church. ... Creationism cannot be taught as scientific fact in public schools."

The letter further asserts that the professor's "preaching threatens the integrity of a GSU degree," and asks that McMullen be investigated and consequently ordered to "cease and desist."

Bangladesh Pastors Charged With 'Hurting Religious Sentiments' for Preaching Christ to Muslims

DHAKA, Bangladesh – Two Bangladesh pastors have been charged with “hurting religious sentiments” and could face two years behind bars after they were arrested during a house church service.

Arif Mondol leads the Faith Bible Church of God in Lalmonirhat, and meets with 30-40 area Christians on a regular basis. Earlier this month, as he and a visiting pastor were conducting a baptism, a mob of angry Muslims between 100-200 in number stormed the building and began attacking Mondol and his friend. According to Open Doors, the Muslims were upset that some of those being baptized were former Muslims.

“More than 100 Muslims headed by local Jamaat-e-Islami party members and Muslim clerics gathered at the house and started barking questions at the pastors: why did they propagate Christianity in the locality and convert some of them,” a source also told Morning Star News. “The pastors replied that it did not take any permission from any authority to propagate any religion and convert people to any religion.”

“Suddenly the Muslims became apoplectic with rage, tried to pick a fight and started jabbing the pastors’ faces,” they explained.

STREET MAPS

Local police soon became involved and arrested both of the pastors, along with all of the 40-plus Christians that had gathered inside. While all of the church members were released later that day, Muslim imams filed charges against Mondol and the visiting pastor, accusing them of trying to convert residents to Christianity. They also claimed that the men were bribing men to convert, which the pastors deny.

Mondol and his co-pastor were later released after posting bail, and a lawyer who helped obtain their release said if convicted, the men could find themselves behind bars.

Prince Charles's coronation service should be opened with a reading from the Koran, a senior Church of England bishop said yesterday.

The gesture would be a 'creative act of accommodation' to make Muslims feel 'embraced' by the nation, Lord Harries of Pentregarth said.

But critics attacked the idea, accusing the Church of 'losing confidence' in its own institutions and traditions.

Lord Harries, a former Bishop of Oxford and a leading CofE liberal thinker, said he was sure Charles's coronation would give scope to

Atheists Use Little Girl's Faux 'Dear Santa' Letter to Send a Fiery Message About Christmas and 'Fairy Tales'

Dec. 1, 2014 11:06am | Billy Hallowell

Atheists are bringing their annual war on Christmas to the south, where a new billboard campaign takes direct aim at the Christian holiday.

American Atheists, an activist group based in Cranford, New Jersey, launched numerous billboards Monday featuring a little girl and her mock letter to Santa. It reads, "Dear Santa, All I want for Christmas is to skip church! I'm too old for fairy tales."

At first glance, the text appears to be a direct response to vast majority of American Christians who embrace at least some of what the Bible recounts about Christ's purported divinity.

Consider that a 2013 poll found that 77 percent of U.S. citizens believe that Jesus was resurrected, with a separate poll finding that nearly 70 percent of the nation believes Christ is God or God's son.

American Atheists claims, though, that the billboards — on display from December 1-December 24 — targets "in the closet atheists who are pressured to observe religious traditions during the holidays."

The Finnish parliament has narrowly approved a citizen's initiative to legalise same-sex marriage.

Gay couples in Finland have been able to enter into registered partnerships since 2002, but until now the country was the only in the Nordic region not to allow same-sex marriage. Finland is now the 12th European state to do so.

In the vote, 105 members of parliament supported the legal amendment while 92 opposed it.

The measure will end the distinction in Finland between same-sex unions and heterosexual marriages and give such couples equal rights to adopt children and share a surname.

"Finland should strive to become a society where discrimination does not exist, human rights are respected and two adults can marry regardless of

Thousands of people have resigned from the Lutheran Church in Finland, after the nation's parliament approved a same-sex marriage law and the church's archbishop expressed support for the vote, Finland's Yle News reported.

By late Saturday, around 7,800 people had officially resigned from the state-supported Lutheran Church via an online service, which was specifically created to ease the registration process.

The resignation frees the individuals from obligatory church membership taxes, which is where the majority of the Lutheran Church's income comes from. By the end of 2013, some 75 percent of Finns – 4.1 million people – were listed as members of the church.

Bishops ponder gay marriage vote implications

The Finnish Lutheran Church is unlikely to allow gay marriages in churches, according to several bishops interviewed by Yle. They were responding to a spike in resignations from the church that saw some 13,000 people leave the organisation since parliament approved a gender-neutral marriage law.

Since parliament voted on Friday to allow same-sex marriages, more than 13,000 people have resigned from the church. Feedback to the eroakirkosta.fi church resignation website indicated they were reacting to Archbishop Kari Mäkinen's comments that he 'rejoiced' over the vote.

Now church leaders have moved to calm traditional church members, with several bishops indicating that gay marriages are unlikely to be taking place in Finnish churches any time soon.
